2- Read the following passage and then answer the questions below :

American teenagers seem healthy enough but , in fact , many are not .For example the numbers who do sports or other energetic activities are falling . Even more importantly , more and more young Americans do not eat well . This is a problem . And a large part of the problem is hunk food – the junk food that most of us eat more and more .

And there's another big diet problem : too many teens don't eat when they should . Take Carrie Choi . Carrie Choi is 15 and she hasn't eaten breakfast since she was third grade . ' I don't have time , ' she says . ' I have to be on the school bus at 7:15 am . Anyway , 'she adds , 'I'm really not hungry at that time of day . '

More and more young Americans talk like Carrie . They are the 20% of US teenagers who don't eat breakfast . They are creating real problems for themselves – and perhaps even killing themselves . Your body is like a car . Cars need fuel – and we need food . Your body uses most of yesterday's supply by morning and then it needs more . People who forget this and miss breakfast may suffer headaches , and they will certainly be low on energy . On the other hand , scientists say , people who eat a proper breakfast learn better , behave better and are generally healthier .
