A/ Reading ( 10 marks )

Read the following passage then answer the questions below:-

Then we talked about disabled people. Dr. Way said that they had accepted their disabilities in the past, whereas some could now recover. For example, medical science was helping people to hear and see again. 'But can doctors do the same for all disabled people?' I asked. 'Sadly, no - at least not yet,' he replied. But here's another important point; disabled people today are being helped to live like everyone else. For example, many modern buildings have special ramps for people in wheelchairs. We discussed the new artificial legs that some disabled athletes had recently started using and we agreed that they are fantastic. But he said at our centre , we're most interested in new body parts that connect with our brains. This was news to me, so I asked Dr. Way to tell me more. He explained if someone lost an arm in an accident, they were now able to provide a new bionic arm. It looked, bent and turned like a normal arm, he said. And it could understand messages from the brain that made it moved .
